

BRYAN HEADS MOVEMENT TO ELECT DRY CONGRESS

Probably Foresees Election of Governor Cox Who, He Believes, Favors Wets.

SEES WHEELER AND OTHERS

Nebraska Will Use "The Commonwealth" as Official Organ in Campaign—Wants Legislative Branch to Override Chief Executive.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—Apparently foreseeing the probable election of Governor Cox to the presidency, William J. Bryan, who supports the Democratic nominee of favoring the "wets," will head a nationwide movement to elect two-thirds majorities in both Senate and House, that will be able to defeat any measure a "wet President" might devise.

This became known tonight following a conference held by the Nebraskaans with Wayne B. Wheeler and other national "dry" leaders at the Hotel Lafayette.

Wires Appeal for "Drys."

Mr. Bryan's paper, the Commonwealth, will be the official organ of the new "nonpartisan two-thirds dry" Congress movement. His first official act occurred today when he wired an appeal to the "drys" for publication in the Commonwealth. It read something like this:

"As the wets are pledging themselves to support 'wet' candidates without regard to party affiliations, the 'drys' must disregard party lines and secure a Congress two-thirds 'dry' in both houses, so that necessary 'dry' laws and appropriations can go passed over the veto of a 'wet' President, and so that a 'wet' President may be impeached and removed from office if, by failure to enforce the law, he violates his oath of office."

When Bryan was asked how he reconciled his stand with his reply that he "was still a Democrat" when the Prohibition party offered him the presidential nomination, he said:

"I regard it entirely within my right as a member of the party. Since I have been active in politics I have known one Democratic President to help elect a Republican President, and yet remain a Democrat (referring to the attitude of Grover Cleveland during Bryan's first campaign for the presidency).

Cites Precedent of Action.

"I have also known one prominent Democrat who refused to support a Democratic candidate for President, and who obtained his reward in elevation as a Democratic President (referring to President Wilson's attitude in another Bryan campaign). Then I recall the instance of a Republican ex-President helping to elect a Democratic candidate, and still remaining, not only a Republican, but quite a prominent one (referring to the late Colonel Roosevelt at the time President Taft was defeated for re-election).

"Surely with such eminent illustrations as to the latitude allowed members of both parties I should be permitted to remain silent without forfeiting my right to membership in the Democratic party."

Mr. Bryan's "mountain-top speech," as he has styled his Democratic convention oration in behalf of the ill-fated plank, including one on prohibition, will be widely used. In it he hailed the coming of the women voters as a real factor in the campaign.

COX TO LABOR

But this provision can be made only when reconstruction of the world has been undertaken under definite plan. Although our soldiers achieved a victory in the great war, they have not yet brought the war to a close, we still do not have peace. Until that peace is accomplished, little headway can be made. Not only is the civilization of the world at stake, but the material welfare of our own country is vitally affected.

"Waste and extravagance must continue until by the ratification of the treaty of peace we and the other countries of the world know definitely where we stand."

Turning to the labor question, Governor Cox continued: "Labor is vitally interested in the plan of reconstruction. There are adjustments to be made, there are those who think the answer to present difficulties lies in the adoption of plans of the past; that progress has gone too far. I am not of that class. I think that the solution is in the dawn of a new day when the human soul and the human body shall count for more than the sordid dollar."

Fair Play for All Required.

"So long as men work for hire there will be differences of opinion between those who labor and those who employ labor. Industrial disputes cannot be avoided, but industrial disputes can be prevented from menacing the welfare of the nation when both parties to the dispute can be made to understand that government is fair and that neither one nor the other may gain an advantage. Public opinion favors an American plan, and public opinion will always settle industrial conflicts if the game be played in the open."

"Labor Day came to be as one of the mile posts on the road of progress. But for progressivism labor Day could not have been. Reactionists would not recognize it. The reactionists are in various groups. They consist primarily of the holders of privilege, privilege conferred by laws. They strive not only to retain existing privileges but to secure additional ones. 'Special interests' is only another term for privileges. The privileged few are assisted by those who through deliberate misdirection or miseducation permit the elimination of the majority rule. Special privileges are aided by the extreme radicals who propose things that are either unworkable or advanced ahead of their time. By misguided advocacy of inappropriate things, they deceive many earnest citizens who desert from progressivism."

Should Have Right to Organize.

"Labor should have the right to organize and through representatives of their own choosing negotiate collective bargaining. This right never has been denied capital. Care must be exercised that government

HARVESTER TRUST IS SUBJECT OF ATTACK

Federal Trade Commission Declares Proceedings Should Be Reopened, as Great Corporation Continues Dominating Influence in Farm Machinery Trade.

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—Declaring prices of farm implements to have been increased without warrant through "concerted action" of manufacturers and dealers, the Federal Trade Commission, in a report made public tonight, recommended reopening of antitrust proceedings against the International Harvester Company and institution of judicial proceedings against implement manufacturers and dealers.

The commission declares its investigation, which was ordered by the Senate, disclosed that in the period between 1914 and 1918 prices paid by farmers for implements advanced 73 per cent, with the greater portion of the increase coming in 1917 and 1918. This increase, the commission asserts, was larger than warranted by the advances in the costs and expenses of the manufacturers and dealers, and resulted in unusually large profits.

Farm Products Now Declining.

Notwithstanding the increase, farmers of the country, according to the commission's report, "were not prevented from making as much profit as before the prices of farm products increased, to a greater extent." The report adds, however, that if present implement prices are maintained, while prices of farm products decrease, high implement costs "may well become a factor in preventing the farmer from making a fair profit."

"The partial dissolution of the International Harvester Company in 1918," declares the commission's report, "did not change the dominating position of that company in the harvesting machine line and will not do so while the Mond to combine plant and the steel business remain united under its control, either directly or by common ownership of stock."

"The dominating position of the International Harvester Company is chiefly with respect to the harvesting machine line and with particular respect to grain dealers. The maintenance of this position is aided by the steel-making business of the company, which furnishes it either with large profits or with steel at cost, thereby further increasing the International Harvester Company's dominating position by reducing its already low costs of manufacture."

"The division of the business of the International Harvester Company, therefore, should be in such a way as to divide effectively the harvesting machine line and to separate therefrom the steel business. Less than half of the products of which have been utilized by its implement factories at no time be made oppressive in maintaining the laws of the land. I have said that public opinion will settle industrial disputes and to this end I believe the government should provide for proper investigation in all cases, with provision for the filing of the facts without prejudice, so that the public may have full information. The right to free speech and free press and the right of orderly assembly, guaranteed by the Constitution, must never be infringed."

"Too long have we urged the down-trodden of other lands to come to us as laborers without giving a thought to their proper absorption in the melting pot. Once on our shores they have been forgotten until by our own neglect they have become a serious menace through lack of education and understanding of our ideas. Americanization must be seriously undertaken by the government with insistence upon full cooperation by the employers of this labor."

More for Postal Employees.

Urging adequate remuneration for government employees, Governor Cox said if elected he would sign a bill granting the "long-suffering and loyal postal employees the relief they so richly deserve in the way of appropriate and adequate wages."

Discussing agricultural problems, Governor Cox reiterated many suggestions made in his speech of acceptance, including Federal reclamation aid, agricultural extension and home building.

"In working out the problems of American farm life," he said, "the extension of transportation systems, the building of good roads and the creation of modern school facilities in the country, which bring the boy and girl on the farm the opportunities that are offered to the boy and girl of the city, go hand in hand."

"It is now possible to bring even the most remote district the entertainment facilities to be found in the more populated centers. Farm work should no longer be drudgery. Labor-saving machinery long since reduced the toll in the fields. Now let's apply the same methods to make more enjoyable the existence of the farmer's wives."

"The Governor also reiterated his advocacy of Federal regulation of cold storage, declaring that it would 'break the circle of profiteering.'"

The Governor was welcomed with a grand applause during his address.

CHARGE JAPANESE WITH FORTIFYING NAVAL BASE

Representative Schall, of Minnesota, Quoting Correspondent, Declares 'They Violated Monroe Doctrine.'

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—Representative Schall, of Minnesota, is quoted as charging, on the authority of an unnamed correspondent, that Japan has openly and flagrantly violated the Monroe Doctrine by establishing a fortified base on Turtle Island, off Magdalena Bay, in Lower California.

Turtle Island is only 1,100 miles from San Francisco, 900 miles from Mexico City, 200 miles from the extremity of Lower California, and 2,310 miles from the Panama Canal. It occupies a position of strategic value, particularly for operation against the Panama Canal and the United States.

Must Separate Brands.

"It is necessary to separate the McCormick and Deering plants and brands because, according to judicial decisions, they were illegally combined in 1902, and because it is these plants that have given the International Harvester Company its dominating position in the harvesting machine line. By their volume of output, their low cost of production and reputation in the trade, the possession of these two plants and brands makes effective competition from other manufacturers illusory."

Investigation of twenty-two manufacturers and more than 200 dealers, the report says, showed the average rate of profit for the dealers "on investment increased from 3 per cent in 1914 to 7.7 per cent in 1918, which is an increase of 27 per cent, while that of manufacturers 'increased from 9.7 per cent in 1914 to 19.9 per cent in 1918, which is an increase of 105 per cent.'"

"The National Implement and Vehicle Association, with general offices in Chicago, the Southern Wagon Manufacturers' Association and the Carriage Builders' National Association are designated by the commission as the organizations through which the manufacturers acted by 'concerted action' to advance prices."

"Under cover of bringing about uniform cost accounting, uniform terms of sale and standardization of product," the report asserts, "the manufacturers who are members of these associations repeatedly advanced prices of farm implements by concerted action during the period of 1916 to 1918, inclusive."

"That the officers and members of the Manufacturers' Association," the report adds, "realized they were engaged in illegal activities, is indicated by the attempted secrecy they sought to throw over all political activities."

Among the farm implement dealers the commission charge concerted action was practiced through the National Federation of Implement and Vehicle Dealers' Association, with offices at Abilene, Kans., and the Eastern Federation of Farm Machinery Dealers, with offices at Philadelphia, and local clubs organized by these two organizations.

Presented With Pictures.

During his visit to the State Fair Governor Cox was presented the picture "October Day in Minnesota," by Kaute Heider, of Minneapolis, which won the gold medal. Accepting the picture, Governor Cox said:

"I accept the picture with the condition precedent that it will be exhibited in the East room of the White House."

In a short address to Minnesota farm boys, the Governor talked about his early days on the farm. He told the boys "never be a snob. Reach out your hand to all."

The Twin Cities were the farthest Western points ever visited by the Governor, who never had been west of the Mississippi River heretofore. His party was augmented here by Jett Lauck, an economist sent by the Democratic National Committee to assist the candidate Mr. Lauck was prominent in war labor board work and Plumb plan, railroad and profiteering publicly.

short talks at other places during the trip on either the subject. Although he has declared his disinclination to any rear-platform or impromptu speech-making, he is understood to feel it will be difficult to avoid some modification of his program.

Traveling on a special train, the Senator and his party will leave Marion early tomorrow morning and will make a mid-afternoon call on Major General Wood at Fort Sheridan, near Chicago, on the way North. Accompanying the candidates will be Mrs. Harding and a clerical force, who will be kept busy with correspondence and other work during the trip.

At the Labor Day celebration today, the presiding officer who enforced a time limit on the candidate's speech, was Thornton Shaw, secretary of the Central Trades and Labor Council of Marion. When interrupted, the speaker said he was about four-fifths through his manuscript and he asked for and was given time.

THE REV. C. W. SHERIFF, of Huntingdon, Pa., is visiting in the city this week, and will conduct the services at the Bainbridge Street Baptist Church on WEDNESDAY, preaching at 8 P. M. in the auditorium of the church. He is said to be a very attractive speaker. Come, and invite your friends.

PREMIER READY TO FREE MACSWINEY ON ONE CONDITION

Insane government policy toward MacSwiney," said J. H. Thomas, representing the railway men. He read the letter of Bonar Law saying the government is justified in its course because MacSwiney is a rebel. He then declared that Bonar Law, more than any other man, justified the Ulster rebellion in 1914. He added that none were punished for this rebellion.

The Irish Dominion League asked King George, as commander-in-chief of the armed forces of Great Britain, to repeal the court-martial sentence passed on MacSwiney. The request states that a "grave national emergency exists."

Sam Lynn Dies in Alabama Fight Which Resulted in Injuries to Several Others.

BIRMINGHAM, ALA., Sept. 6.—Sam Lynn, nonunion miner, was shot to death; P. H. Traywick, union miner, was wounded, and several others suffered slight injuries in a coal strike clash at Gintown, Jefferson County, last night.

The disturbance occurred at the mines of the Sloss-Sheffield Steel and Iron Company. J. R. Allison, union miner, is in jail charged with the murder of Lynn, and Henry M. Brewer, nonunion miner, is held on a charge of assault.

Argument over recognition of the union preceded the shooting, it is said.

Brewer was arrested last night, and Allison was brought to the county jail this morning by Deputy Sheriff Sam Arnaud, where a charge of murder was entered against him.
